ACTION PROJECTS

1. PROJECT SCROLL CONTROL

A Global Nationwide Mental Wellness Project

[initiated as a GTPS Project by Professor Emeritus, Dr. Coomi S. Vevaina and supported by ISAC, a National Cybersecurity Database Agency and CERT-In, Indian Computer Emergency Response Team]

Educators and psychologists worldwide are increasingly concerned about the rise in mental health issues caused by social media. Project Scroll Control, is a Social, Emotional and Ethical Learning (SEEL) project which seeks to empower tweens globally to proactively combat cyberbullying using Narrative Therapy through the creative medium of digital storytelling. The aim is to promote mindful responses among youth to the dark underbelly of the digital space and empower them restore balance in their lives.

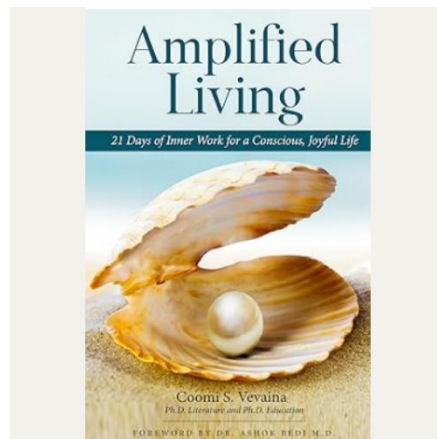

Schools and Colleges in India will be encouraged to participate in Project Scroll Control. Participating schools will engage students in creating digital stories, culminating in a video that portrays their protagonist(s) transitioning from a Magic to Manic to Toxic relationship with social media. As facilitators, we will provide support by outlining effective strategies of getting their protagonists out of the challenging situations they find themselves in the narratives created by them.

Some of the good videos will be uploaded on prominent national digital platforms as well as our own website gtps4change.org. They will be freely available to viewers everywhere and serve as powerful tools to raise awareness about the responsible use of technology.
